On Day of Giving 2025, students like Addison, a scholarship recipient from Short Gap, West Virginia, will benefit from the incredible generosity of supporters like you as she pursues her Agricultural Entrepreneurship degree.

“The scholarships I have received have made my schooling experience doable. I have a very hardworking family, and they would do anything for me so I can obtain my college education. Scholarships like the one I have received have taken the financial burden off my family and me, and allowed me to focus on school without worrying about the money. What I am learning inside and outside of the classroom here at Potomac State College is setting me up for a successful future, and donors like you have made that possible.”
